

Press Release – Monday 23rd February 2009

Appointment

Luc Durant Supply Chain Director

Geoservices* (oilfield service company – Mud Logging, Well Intervention & Field Surveillance – turnover 2007 $ 416 million, 5 000 employees in 53 countries) appointed Luc Durant (40) as Supply Chain Director based in France. He reports to Jean-Marie Penanguer, VP Operation Support and Logistics.

After having started his career in 1993, first as both Technical (1993-1995) and then Consultant Engineer (1995-1997), Luc Durant has over the last 12 years, handled various Supply Chain responsibilities such as European Supply Chain Manager (1997-1998 Baxter and 1998-2007 Cardinal Health) and lately as Global Account Manager for an international forwarder (2007-2009 Expeditors International).

Education: Industrial Engineer (Graduate Engineer in Electro-Mechanics), Institut Supérieur Industriel Catholique, Hainaut, Belgium (1987-1991), DEA Specialisation in Project Management, Ecole Nationale Supérieure Procédé et Ingénierie Chimique, Aix-Marseille, France (1991-1992), Masters Degree, Project Management, University of Quebec, Trois Rivières, Canada (1992-1993), Certificate in Export Management, Institut Catholique des Hautes Etudes Commerciales, Bruxelles, Belgium (1995-1996), Special Certificate in Integrated logistics, European Logistic Training Centre – Mons Belgium (1996).

(*) About Geoservices:

Geoservices provides a range of oil field services that help evaluate hydrocarbon reservoirs and optimize field exploration, development and production. It serves oil and gas companies worldwide through a network of bases in 53 countries, covering all the main areas where oil or gas is to be found. Its services include Mud Logging (world leader), Well Intervention (World N°2) and Field Surveillance.

Information :

Frédéric FOUGERAT, Communications Director : +33 (0) 1 481 485 16 frederic.fougerat@geoservices.com